*School Counseling: Student
Mental Health and Safety*

When: March 19th – 6:00-8:00pm

What:

AIER is hosting a generative conversation about Innovation in Schools. Specifically, we will be holding the question of;

“What does it take to really pay attention to student mental health in school?”

This question has many facets, and we will be exploring innovative approaches to school design; innovative approaches to counseling and student support, and how we can practice effective leadership for school to promote healthy, vibrant student experience. The evening design will be generative conversation over good food – in attendance we will have several of the leading school innovators from the greater Spokane Region.

If you choose to participate, we will be asking each of you to bring with you one question about student mental health that is alive for you today - we will use some of these as fodder for our discussion.

The event is $20.00 and a snacky-dinner will be provided, seats are limited and by invitation, so sign-up today if you would like to participate. If you or your school are AIER Consortium members the event is free to you – please email Mike if you are, or what to become, a consortium member.
